

Apr 25th, 11:30 AM - 11:45 AM

Providing Social Services to Latino Immigrants - A Theological Perspective

Olivia Mahon
omahon@carroll.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholars.carroll.edu/surf>

Part of the Catholic Studies Commons, Christianity Commons, Ethics in Religion Commons, Family, Life Course, and Society Commons, Latin American Languages and Societies Commons, Migration Studies Commons, Practical Theology Commons, Social Welfare Commons, Social Work Commons, and the Spanish Linguistics Commons

Mahon, Olivia, "Providing Social Services to Latino Immigrants - A Theological Perspective" (2019). Carroll College Student Undergraduate Research Festival. 98.
<https://scholars.carroll.edu/surf/2019/all/98>

This Event is brought to you for free and open access by Carroll Scholars. It has been accepted for inclusion in Carroll College Student Undergraduate Research Festival by an authorized administrator of Carroll Scholars. For more information, please contact tkratz@carroll.edu.

Providing Social Services to Latino Immigrants - A Theological Perspective

Olivia Mahon

The Experience of Immigration

- Why Immigration?
- The Immigrants' Experiences
- Psychological, Social and Spiritual Effects

<https://www.bbc.com/news/world-latin-america-45910779>

<https://thehill.com/latino/416878-migrants-arrive-at-us-border-fill-tijuana-shelters>

Social Work

- What's missing?
 - 90 percent of graduate social work faculty either agreed or strongly agreed that preparing students for culturally sensitive practice with Latinos is important. However, only 40 percent of the faculty believed that students were prepared for practice with this population (Furman, 2002).

<https://www.ilcartello.eu/international/language-barrier/>

Three key components

- Importance of language
- Cultural competency
- Sensitivity to the experiences of immigrants

The Principle of Participation

“We believe people have a right and a duty to participate in society, seeking together the common good and well-being of all, especially the poor and vulnerable’ (Reflections, p.

5). Without participation, the benefits available to an individual through any social institution cannot be realized. The human person has a right not to be shut out from participating in those institutions that are necessary for human fulfillment” (Byron 1998:3).

The Principle of Association

“The centerpiece of society is the family; family stability must always be protected and never undermined.

By association with others--in families and in other social institutions that foster growth, protect dignity and promote the common good--human persons achieve their fulfillment” (Byron 1998: 3).

The Principle of Human Dignity

“Every person--regardless of race, sex, age, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, employment or economic status, health, intelligence, achievement or any other differentiating characteristic--is worthy of respect. It is not what you do or what you have that gives you a claim on respect; it is simply being human that establishes your dignity. Given that dignity, the human person is, in the Catholic view, never a means, always an end” (Byron 1998: 2).

Questions?